

International stations

LOFAR attracts a growing community that also would like to contribute to the LOFAR adventure. This is the general information page for the (potential) international partners of LOFAR.

General Information - Site Requirements

A document has been drafted detailing the site requirements, the placement and the layout of a LOFAR station on an LOFAR site in countries outside the Netherlands (stations in the Netherlands have a different layout). This document tries to address a lot of questions that we are frequently asked.

- International Site Requirement Document (living document, last update November 25, 2008)
- Requirements crane for field positioning of the HBA tiles
- HBA anchor installation guide
- International LOFAR station network description (last update September 30, 2008)
- LOFAR Container specification

If you have more questions, you would like to visit us or you would like us to visit you, please contact Corina Vogt (vogt<at>astron.nl)

International partners

At the moment, there are the following countries planning to add station to LOFAR or have them already funded:

- Germany - Five stations funded and completed (Effelsberg, Garching, Potsdam, Tautenburg, Juelich), one more planned (Hamburg).
- UK - One station funded and completed (Chilbolton); Three more planned
- France - One station funded and completed (Nancay); Super station planned
- Sweden - One station funded and completed (Onsala)
- Finland - One prototype-station funded and completed (Kilpisjärvi) for ESICAT testing
- Poland - Three stations planned (Torun, Krakow, Jelena Gora)
- Austria/Ukraine - One station planned
- Italy - One station planned
- Ireland - One station planned

On Google Maps that looks like (green: funded station, yellow: funded but no place found yet, red: planned station):

On the uv-plane this looks like:
